Department Goals

Over-all Goal

To improve elementary education by improving the quality of leadership among elementary school principals.

Supporting Goals

Careful selection of elementary school principals.

Improved certification requirements for elementary school principals. Adequate preparation for the principalship (including both pre-service and in-service programs), keyed to the varied and growing responsibilities of the position. For example, increased attention to the principal's need for training to meet his leadership responsibilities in these areas: the instructional program, parent and community relations, school management.

A close working relationship between elementary school principals and those who are engaged in the training of elementary school principals.

Identification of areas related to the elementary school principalship that are in need of research, and encouragement of research in these areas.

Increased cooperative action for better school programs, with elementary school principals, high school principals, supervisors, teachers, superintendents, and other school personnel working closely with one another.

A unified school program—grades 1 thru 12.

A unified profession for all school personnel.

More effective professional association activities among elementary school principals. Strong state and local associations.

FROM YOUR PRESIDENT

During the past year, the activities of the Department have accented our primary purpose—furthering the professional growth of elementary school principals. Thru our publications, national conference, regional meetings, and many other activities, we have worked to provide the kind of leadership that will strengthen each of us as professional leaders.

Our theme for the year has been The Principal's Role in Instructional Leadership. THE NATIONAL ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL provided a wide range of specific help for the principal in his role as an instructional leader. In addition, two other DESP publications have dealt with one specific part of the instructional program—reading. The yearbook, Reading for Today's Children, and the special bulletin, Sailing into Reading, have made timely contributions to the constructive analysis and development of the reading programs in our nation's schools.

The Annual Meeting in Denver was also devoted to instructional leadership. A large group of outstanding people served as speakers, consultants, discussion leaders, and reporters for the conference program. More than 2,000 of our members participated in this, the largest of DESP annual meetings.

One of the outstanding features of the year's program has been the launching of the project on preparation for the principalship. During the year, three regional conferences were held in which small groups of educators from 21 states participated. These conferences, which will be continued in other areas in the coming year, are the basis of an extensive cooperative effort to stimulate more adequate pre-service and in-service programs for elementary school principals.

I should like to express the thanks of the entire Executive Committee for the opportunity to serve you this year. We are deeply appreciative of your interest and cooperation and of the invitations which several groups extended to us to join in state meetings during the year. As we go forward, we are confident that the future will lead us toward an even fuller realization of the elementary school principalship as a position of unparalleled educational leadership.

FROM YOUR EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

The passing of another year has brought considerable growth to your Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA. This growth is evidenced thru a substantial membership increase, improved services, and more unified efforts by elementary school principals—at the local, state, and national levels—to work together on mutual interests.

Each year, the Department focuses attention on particular activities. In this report, your Executive Secretary has highlighted some of the important events of the past year. During the year, much emphasis was given to the project on preparation for the principalship. This activity, initiated thru a series of small regional conferences, places us in a position to render a unique service to our profession. Working with colleges and universities, we can help to improve the pre-service and in-service preparation of elementary school principals. Now, in the early stages of this project, it is gratifying to witness the varied action by colleges and elementary school principals' associations to follow up the regional conferences. The coming year promises even more fruitful results.

Another important achievement during the year has been the development of increased responsiveness among local and state associations to working very closely with the national Department. This cooperative action has been reflected in the contributions various groups have made to our regional conferences on preparation for the principalship and to our Annual Meeting in Denver. The publications issued by principals' groups also reflect a fine spirit of unity. We are proud to see the Department move forward as a result of cooperative activity. Having a large number of educators interested and active in our program helps to assure a successful future.

As those of us on the headquarters staff proceed with our activities, we attempt to focus our attention on the Department's goals—improving leadership among elementary school principals and helping to develop better educational opportunities for children. We wish to express our thanks to the Executive Committee, to officers of state and local elementary school principals' associations, to our membership, and to the National Education Association for splendid assistance and cooperation in bringing about the progress of 1955-56 toward these goals.

Annual Meeting

One of the most important parts of the Department's program is the annual meeting. Designed especially for elementary school principals, these regular national conferences provide diverse opportunities for active professional participation. The rapidly growing attendance at these meetings is indicative of their wide appeal to elementary school principals thruout the country.

Planning Procedures

Planning for the annual meetings is a complex process. About three years prior to the date of each conference, preliminary decisions are made on date, location, and theme. Later, in the months directly preceding the meeting, several staff members devote full time to arranging conference details and organizing the program. In addition, the Executive Committee and a local arrangements committee provide extensive assistance.

Some of the procedures for planning the annual meeting are defined by the following statement of policy, adopted by the Executive Committee in February 1954 and reviewed and approved again in December 1955.

1. Decisions on the date and location for the annual meeting shall be made by the Executive Committee.
2. The Executive Committee shall select the theme for the annual meeting and shall make suggestions on the general plan of the conference. As many persons as possible will be invited to advise in planning the program. Details of the meeting shall be worked out thru the headquarters office.
3. The President and the Executive Secretary shall work together in planning general sessions and other major parts of the conference. They shall jointly select speakers for the general sessions.
4. Key conference leaders shall be selected by the Executive Secretary with the recommendations of the Executive Committee, state representatives, presidents of state elementary school principals' associations, and others.
5. An attempt shall be made to have as few "repeaters" on the program as possible for successive years.

6. A minimum number of people outside the Department membership will be given assignments on the program, according to the services needed.

7. The elementary school principals in the city where the meeting is being held shall be invited to organize a local arrangements committee to assist with conference details.

In planning the annual meeting, an attempt is made to provide a diversified program of activities. Small discussion groups, big general assemblies, panel discussions, social activities—all are combined to fit the varying needs and interests of the many participants. In addition, the evaluation sheets submitted at the conclusion of each annual meeting are carefully reviewed and used to help guide planning for the next conference program.

1956 Annual Meeting

The 1956 Annual Meeting—held in Denver, Colorado, March 7-10—drew a record attendance of some 2,000 elementary school principals. Participants from thruout the United States and from Canada, Germany, Hawaii, and Thailand came to attend the four-day conference. These are the highlights of the convention program.

Theme: Building on the theme of THE NATIONAL ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL for the year, the Annual Meeting was planned around the topic "The Principal's Role in Instructional Leadership."

General Sessions: The keynoter for the conference was Laurence D. Haskew, Dean, School of Education, University of Texas. His speech on the conference theme highlighted some of the roles the principal may play in influencing instructional improvement: as an atmosphere-producer, prophet, arranger, leader, cooperator, or go-between. The text of Dr. Haskew's speech was published in the May issue of THE NATIONAL ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL. Other speakers at general sessions were James Gail, elementary school teacher, Denver, Colorado, and Beatrice O'Brien, elementary school principal, Los Angeles, California. They discussed the principal's job as an instructional leader from the viewpoints of a teacher and of a principal. Their remarks also appeared in the magazine.

At the luncheon climaxing the conference, the Honorable Frank G. Clement, Governor of Tennessee, delivered an inspirational address on present-day public education—where it stands and where it is going.

Special subject-matter assemblies: The Annual Meeting featured five assemblies, held simultaneously, which dealt with particular subject-matter areas of the curriculum—arithmetic, language arts, reading, science, and the social studies. Outstanding authorities served as speakers at each assembly. These programs were repeated so each participant could attend two sessions.

Study groups: Everyone attending the conference participated actively in the program thru work in one of the 35 study sections. Each of these groups dealt with one of eight major discussion topics: Deciding What to Teach; Evaluating the Instructional Program; Working with Individual Teachers; Group Planning for Instructional Improvement; Keeping Up with Materials of Instruction; Using Specialist Resources; Administrative Phases of Instructional Leadership; and Preparation for Instructional Leadership.

Special features: Three special conferences were held during the Annual Meeting. One of these was for administrators of laboratory schools—the first such meeting to be held on a national basis. The other two were for leaders of professional associations—one for presidents of elementary school principals' associations in large cities, the other for presidents of state elementary school principals' associations and state representatives. These two groups focused their discussions on technics for developing closer working relationships among the national, state, and local organizations. In addition, visits to the Denver Public Schools, sightseeing trips, an evening devoted to social activities, and an informal tea added variety to the conference program.

Business Meeting

The Department holds a regular business meeting each year in conjunction with the Annual Meeting. At this time, the activities of the year are reviewed and important items of business introduced and acted upon. The 1956 business meeting was held March 8 in Denver, Colorado. President Robert Langerak presided over the meeting and Newell B. Walters, Denver, Colorado, served as the parliamentarian.

The meeting opened with a series of reports by members of the headquarters staff and by chairmen of several Department committees. In each case, the substance of these remarks is included elsewhere in this Annual Report under the appropriate topical heading. Reports were given as follows:

By the Executive Secretary, Robert W. Eaves, on procedures and policies governing the planning of the Department's annual meetings. (See p. 13.)

By the Assistant Executive Secretary and Editor, Dorothy Neubauer, on some of the policies governing the Department's magazine, THE NATIONAL ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL, and on the current publications program. (See p. 25.)

By the Chairman of the Planning Committee, Arthur Hamalainen, on the method of that group's operation and on the results of their study of the Department's program. (See p. 36.)

By the Chairman of the Committee on Preparation for the Principalship, W. George Hayward, on the background and nature of the Department's project to improve the preparation of elementary school principals. (See p. 23.)

By the Chairman of the Board of Tellers, William L. Broomall, on the results of the 1955-56 election of officers. (See p. 35.)

Following the presentation of these reports, the Department's newly-elected officers were introduced. (See p. 35.)

The Chairman of the Resolutions Committee, Thresa Clark, presented the report of that committee. This report, which appears on p. 17, was adopted upon a motion by Leo R. Miller, Hattiesburg, Mississippi, seconded by Genevieve Douglass, Farmingdale, New York. Four amendments were then moved and seconded as follows:

That the final sentence of the resolution pertaining to tax exemptions be amended as follows. (The amended form is italicized.) "The expense of maintaining and upgrading professional competence is a necessary business expense, and we respectfully request the Internal Revenue Service to reconsider and broaden its rules, so that they may serve as instruments to encourage continual improvement of the professional contributions of teachers." "The expense of maintaining and upgrading competence is a necessary business expense, and we respectfully urge the Congress of the United States to amend the internal revenue statutes, so that they may serve as instruments to encourage continual improvement of the professional contributions of teachers." Moved by Robert Colwell, Denver, Colorado, and seconded by Vincent Dodge, Fargo, North Dakota.

That the resolution pertaining to tax exemptions, as amended, be referred to the NEA Legislative Commission. Moved by Vincent Dodge, Fargo, North Dakota, and seconded by Robert Colwell, Denver, Colorado.

That the Colorado Education Association be included in the resolution extending commendation to various organizations for their cooperation in planning the Annual Meeting. Moved by Robert Colwell, Denver, Colorado, and seconded by Leo R. Miller, Hattiesburg, Mississippi.

That the report be reorganized to place the resolution pertaining to salaries in other than the opening paragraph. Moved by Leo R. Miller, Hattiesburg, Mississippi, and seconded by Roberta Barnes, Washington, D. C.

There being no further business, the President then adjourned the business meeting.

Resolutions

The report of the Resolutions Committee, as amended and adopted at the 1956 business meeting, appears below.

Federal Aid to Education: The Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, recognizes that marked inequalities exist among local communities and states in ability to finance good education for American citizens. It recognizes, further, that continuing sharp population increases pose difficult—sometimes insuperable—problems for state and local school authorities in the financing of an adequate program of education. These difficulties are compounded by the inadequacy of the present tax structure as it applies to raising funds for public education. In view of these conditions, the Department recommends greater federal participation in the financing of public education, with particular reference to these needs: 1) school construction adequate for present and anticipated conditions; 2) salaries at a level high enough to attract and hold able teachers and other educators; and 3) a reasonable supply of the equipment and services necessary to good education.

The Department is of the firm opinion that increased federal participation in the financing of public education can and should be treated apart from the equally important but separate problem of desegregation in public education.

Integration: The recent court decision, which removes legal restrictions to the achievement by the American people of greater equality of opportunity for all racial groups, is recognized by the Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, as a step taken in accord with American constitutional processes and consistent with progress already made in this area. It further recognizes, however, that the actual changes in attitudes, understanding, and conditions, which are basic to progress in this sphere, are not matters of legislation alone; they result, in part, from changes in social and economic conditions and from continuing study and education concerning the broad problems of human relationships. We, therefore, recommend that educators, working with their fellow citizens in the states and in local communities, direct their best efforts toward the development of intercultural understanding, with the objective of increasing human dignity, opportunity, and happiness for all American citizens.

Questionable Emergency Measures: The current shortage of qualified teachers and of elementary school classrooms has brought about a variety of measures intended to alleviate the emergency. Many of these proposals seem to imply that good instruction can be maintained in overcrowded classrooms with the assistance of underqualified, even non-certified, personnel. These measures may endanger the desirable progress which has been made toward more adequate professional qualifications for teachers and toward an understanding of the influence of class size on the quality of instruction.

The Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, strongly recommends that such arrangements be considered strictly as undesirable emergency measures unless it can be demonstrated conclusively that these plans can result in learning which is comparable in quality to that attainable with smaller instructional groups under the supervision of professionally qualified teachers. In the absence of such evidence, the Department supports the belief that the best solution to the problems of teacher shortage and classroom shortage is to be found in the building of more classrooms and the recruitment and preparation of a larger number of competent teachers.

Tax Exemptions: For many years, school systems have been developing personnel policies which encourage, and often require, classroom teachers and principals to engage in professional development activities designed to maintain and improve their professional competence. Many of these activities entail expense for professional texts, travel, housing, and other items. The United States Revenue Service has ruled that teachers may deduct from federal income tax reports the cost of summer school expenses, when attendance is necessary to renew a standard certificate or is made a condition of continued employment. While the Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, is appreciative of this ruling, it neverthless considers it to be too narrow. The expense of maintaining and upgrading professional competence is a necessary business expense, and we respectfully urge the Congress of the United States to amend the internal revenue statutes so that they may serve as instruments to encourage continual improvement of the professional contributions of teachers.

The Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, joins the National Education Association in continuing to advocate the principle of equal tax treatment for all retired persons and urges such further amendments of federal tax laws as may be necessary to achieve this goal.

Salaries: The Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, strongly endorses the careful development of salary schedules for all educational personnel. The Department recommends that those responsible for developing such schedules recognize that the leadership demands of the principalship justify a differential between principals' salaries and teachers' salaries—a differential adequate to attract and hold people who are competent and willing to cope with the many exacting demands of the elementary school principalship.

Rural Library Service: The Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, joins with the National Education Association in the belief that farm and other rural families should have the same access as urban dwellers to books, newspapers, magazines, audio-visual materials, and other sources of information which our well-developed city library systems now provide. The Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, believes that a strong public library system is a vitally necessary adjunct to the operation of our public schools.

We urge the adoption of federal legislation to provide grants-in-aid to the states for the development of rural library services. Funds for this purpose should be channeled thru the United States Office of Education to state agencies responsible for public library services and should be apportioned among the states on an objective basis.

Use of Mails: The Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, joins with the National Education Association in urging that Congress continue its longstanding policy of regarding the postal service as a means of conferring educational benefits on all persons and organizations receiving printed matter, including audio-visual material, thru the mails. In particular, we support the adoption of legislation that will assign to educational and cultural material a postal classification that gives adequate recognition to the purpose for which such material is prepared.

Professional Association Activities: A number of programs, designed to improve the quality of leadership exercised by elementary school principals, have been developed at the national, state, and local levels. These include status studies, programs to improve pre-service and in-service preparation for the principalship, programs to improve certification standards, and a variety of measures planned to increase the competence of elementary school principals. The Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, commends these activities and encourages their further development. As a part of this whole approach to leadership improvement, the Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, has developed a cooperative program with professors of educational administration to stimulate improved pre-service and in-service programs for elementary school leaders. We recommend continued support of this project.

The Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, reaffirms its conviction that close association and cooperation with the total NEA program will increase the effectiveness of the Department and contribute materially to the achievement of desirable professional objectives in education. Because of the need for unity and mutual support within the education profession, we strongly recommend that all Department members also maintain membership in the NEA and encourage their colleagues to do likewise. It is further recommended that all members of the Department support the NEA's Centennial Action Program and the new NEA Center.

The appreciation of the members of the Department of Elementary School Principals, NEA, is sincerely extended to the National Education Association for its professional service. We particularly commend our leaders for their work with the Editor-Educator Conference and the White House Conference. These meetings, which helped to focus public attention on the importance of effective school systems and on what is involved in providing them, have had and will continue to have far-reaching effects.

We thank our Department officers, Executive Secretary, and his staff for their great efforts to improve the service of this Department thru increased membership, excellent publications, and outstanding conferences.

We are grateful for the fine work being done by state representatives to the national Department and by state, district, and local organizations of elementary school principals. Real progress in the improvement of elementary education is being made thru these professional channels.

We wish to express our deep appreciation to the Colorado State Department of Education, the Colorado Education Association, the Colorado Elementary School Principals Association, the Denver Elementary School Principals Association, the Denver Public Schools, and the Denver Convention Bureau for the splendid help they have given to the national Department in planning for this excellent meeting.

Summer Conferences

For several years, the Department has sponsored a two-week summer workshop on elementary education. These conferences have been held cooperatively with various universities which have given credit for the two-week program.

1955 Summer Conference

The 1955 summer conference—the fifteenth—was held on the Chicago campus of Northwestern University, July 11-22. "Opportunities and Problems in Elementary Education in the Next Decade" was the theme. A number of outstanding speakers, including educators, businessmen, and scientists, addressed the daily general sessions. Several seminars and professional clinics, dealing with specific areas of concern to elementary school principals, were also regular parts of the conference program.

A special feature of this conference was a seminar on professional association activities, conducted by the Executive Secretary of the national Department. Officers and representatives to the Department from 16 state associations of elementary school principals met in this group to discuss various aspects of professional association work—program planning, publications, finances, and membership. An outgrowth of this group's discussion was the Department's handbook, A Guide for Professional Association Work, which has been distributed widely to local and state leaders.

1956 Summer Conference

Stanford University, Stanford, California, was host to the Department's 1956 summer conference. Theme for the two-week program, July 9-20, was "The Education of American Citizens in a World Setting." Authorities in the fields of history, sociology, health, art, literature, and science spoke to the conference participants. Seminar sessions were organized around three topics: "The Principal's Role in Curriculum Development;" "The Principal's Role in In-service Programs;" and "Home-school-community Relationships." In addition, clinic sessions were held on supervisory and teacher rating technics and visits were made to the nearby Stanford Demonstration School.

The special seminar for professional association leaders, initiated at the 1955 summer conference, was repeated at Stanford. As in the previous year, officers and representatives from several state elementary school principals' associations participated in this workshop.

Cooperation for Competence

What kind of preparation do elementary school principals need in order to be effective leaders in today's schools? Are colleges and universities providing the kind of background principals need? How can principals best work with college and university professors to identify more sharply the kind of pre-service and in-service preparation that is most helpful?

These questions, common to professors of education as well as to principals of elementary schools, prompted the Department to sponsor discussion on preparation for the principalship at the 1954 and 1955 annual meetings. These group meetings, designed to explore the possibilities of a joint attack upon the problem, were attended by about one hundred professors and principals. Those who attended agreed that much could be accomplished by cooperative action and recommended that the Department take further steps to stimulate activity in this area.

National Committee

In response to the interest demonstrated at these annual meetings, the Department established a committee in the spring of 1955 to coordinate a national project to improve preparation for the elementary school principalship. This Committee on Preparation for the Principalship, composed of three professors of elementary education and three elementary school principals, met in Washington on May 29, 1955. At this time, the group defined the objectives of the project as follows.

1. To arrange for the exchange of ideas on preparation for the principalship and in-service growth.
2. To focus attention upon promising practices in colleges and among local principals' groups in training elementary school principals.
3. To exchange information about research studies on the principalship and on pre-service and in-service training.
4. To encourage further research in appropriate areas.
5. To promote cooperative action to improve training for the principalship.
6. To furnish a report on basic policies, studies, practices, and proposals related to preparation for the elementary school principalship.

The Committee recommended that the project be initiated thru a series of small regional conferences to which about one hundred college professors, principals, and other educators from each state within the conference region would be invited. Guidelines by which regional planning committees might arrange for these conferences were also agreed upon by the Committee.

Regional Conferences

During the year 1955-56, three regional conferences were held. The first, for the southeastern states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee, was held at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, February 3-4. Following were conferences in the Northwest, at Spokane, Washington, April 3, and in the South Central area, in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, April 10-11. The Northwest meeting involved the states of Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Utah, and Washington. States included in the South Central group were Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas. All of these conferences were marked by enthusiastic participation and sincere interest in bringing about improved pre-service and in-service programs for elementary school principals. Reports on discussion at these meetings are available in mimeographed form from the national office.

A New England conference is scheduled for the fall of 1956. Regional meetings are also tentatively slated for Bloomington, Indiana, and Minneapolis, Minnesota, for the middle-western states.

Follow-up Activities

The Department's project has stimulated a variety of follow-up activities by colleges, universities, and local and state principals' associations. Several state groups have already set up committees to work in this area and a number of surveys have been made to evaluate the pre-service and in-service training experiences of elementary school principals. A number of colleges and universities are giving active consideration to developing new types of preparatory programs. In addition, the national Department devoted one of the eight major discussion groups during the 1956 Annual Meeting to the topic of "Preparation for Instructional Leadership." This meeting helped to involve many more people with the project.

Much still remains to be done. Local and state principals' organizations need to encourage local school systems and universities to adopt improved preparation programs, and individual principals need to take an active personal interest in stimulating thought and action. The national Department's role is primarily that of stimulator. Tangible results—in terms of improved programs—will come only with specific action at the local and state levels.

Publications

During the year, the Editorial Advisory Board, the Executive Committee, and the headquarters staff have considered several policy problems of particular significance to THE NATIONAL ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL and the Membership Directory and Annual Report. The growing interest of advertisers led to discussion of such questions as these: Should we, in the magazine, continue our established policy of 40 pages of editorial content and 8 pages of advertising? Should we add pages but retain a comparable ratio? Should we try to direct more advertising to the Membership Directory, maintaining the magazine at its present ratio? (For action on this problem, see p. 32.)

Policy as to authors for the magazine was reconsidered and reaffirmed. It was agreed that we should continue to rely heavily on elementary school principals as authors. It is understood, however, that many times other viewpoints are needed and that we will be governed by the program's nature in determining when it is desirable to secure articles from teachers, superintendents, supervisors, professors, parents, and other persons outside the education profession.

The publications program for 1955-56 included the 34th Yearbook, Reading for Today's Children; Sailing into Reading, a special bulletin issued jointly with the National School Public Relations Association, NEA; the Membership Directory and Annual Report; and five issues of THE NATIONAL ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL with the theme, "The Principal's Role in Instructional Leadership."

Editorial Advisory Board

The Editorial Advisory Board met with the headquarters staff in Washington, October 7-8, 1955. Plans were made for the balance of the 1955-56 publication year and a tentative outline was set for the 1956-57 magazine program which will continue the theme, "The Principal's Role in Instructional Leadership."

Yearbook Committee

The Yearbook Committee met in Washington, January 30-31 and February 1, 1956. The Committee made final decisions on the 1956 Yearbook, Instructional Materials for Elementary Schools, and completed preliminary plans for the 1957 Yearbook, tentatively titled Working with Parents in School Programs. For the 1958 Yearbook, the Committee, with the Executive Committee's approval, is planning a study of the status and functions of elementary school principals. While no general invitation for manuscripts is expected, many principals will be invited to join in the inquiry part of the study.

Cooperative Activities

As an important part of its program, the Department works closely with many other organizations. These cooperative activities strengthen the Department as a force in elementary education while contributing to the success of other worthwhile programs.

With the NEA

The Department of Elementary School Principals is one of the thirty departments of the National Education Association. As such, the DESP is an integral part of the NEA, altho maintaining its own budget and membership and planning its own activities.

The Department and the parent organization cooperate with each other in many ways. The Department actively supports the over-all NEA program and urges its members to do so individually, thru NEA membership and participation in NEA activities. Officers and members of the Department staff serve on NEA committees, participate in NEA projects, and assist in many other ways. Each summer, the Department holds a special conference in conjunction with the NEA convention. In 1955, this meeting was held in Chicago, July 4. In 1956, during the NEA conference in Portland, the Department held a meeting on July 2. T. M. Stinnett, Secretary of the NEA National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards, and Paul R. Hanna, Professor of Child Education, Stanford University, Stanford, California, spoke at the latter meeting.

In turn, the NEA provides the Department with office space, considerable equipment, and many services. The NEA Division of Research answers many factual inquiries received by the office and assumes a major responsibility in preparing DESP yearbooks.

With Local and State Principals' Groups

In every state and in over 400 cities, counties, and regions, elementary school principals have formed professional associations. The Department and these local groups work together to build interest in professional organizations and develop improved programs.

During the past year, the Department has carried out a wide variety of activities in working cooperatively with state and local principals' associations. These have included:

- Preparation of a 50-page handbook, entitled A Guide for Professional Association Work, for leaders of professional organizations. Complimentary copies of this handbook were sent to all state representatives, to all presidents of state associations of elementary school principals, and to the presidents of local —city, county, and district—groups upon request.

- Distribution of packets of material to the presidents of state elementary school principals' associations. In these monthly packets have been newsletters from state groups, press releases from the NEA, and other interesting material.
- Sponsorship of two one-day conferences on professional association work—one for presidents of elementary school principals' associations in cities over 400,000; the other for presidents of state associations and state representatives. Both these meetings were held during the 1956 Annual Meeting.
- Sponsorship of special seminars on professional association work during the 1955 and 1956 summer conferences. The Department paid the conference tuition fee for one person to represent each state group at these two-week seminars.
- Distribution of a monthly newsletter to state representatives and presidents of state associations.
- Provision of exhibits for meetings of local and state groups. A photographic panel emphasizing the responsibilities of the elementary school principal, collections of Department publications, and newsletters from state associations have been provided for these displays. This service is offered on request.
- Publication of significant state and local association news in THE NATIONAL ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL.
- Provision of field service by members of the staff and officers of the Department. These services are supplied according to the funds and personnel available for this purpose.

With Other Groups

Frequently, the Department is invited to send representatives to participate in conference or committee activities sponsored by various national organizations concerned with areas related to the Department's program. Whenever possible, these invitations are accepted.

During the past year, the Department has participated in the Editor-Educator Conference, the White House Conference on Education, the President's Conference on Physical Fitness, the National Conference of Professors of Educational Administration, the Music Educators National Conference, the National Conference for Cooperation in Health Education, the Conference on the Preparation and Certification of Foreign Language Teachers, the Tenth National Conference on Citizenship, and the Conference of National Organizations sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Executive Committee

The Executive Committee is the administrative body of the Department, responsible for over-all direction of Department activities. It is composed of nine members—the president, president-elect, vice-president, and six members-at-large. Officers of the Department are nominated and elected as outlined on p. 34, in accordance with the provisions of the Department's Constitution and Bylaws. The members of the Executive Committee for the year 1955-56 are listed on p. 1.

Thru regular meetings and correspondence, the members of the Committee work closely with the Executive Secretary and the headquarters staff in planning and implementing Department activities. Officers frequently represent the Department at various meetings—conferences of other national organizations and meetings of state and local elementary school principals' associations.

Minutes

The Executive Committee held two meetings during the year 1955-56. The first of these was December 5-7, 1955, in Williamsburg, Virginia. All members of the Committee and several members of the headquarters staff were present.

Major action taken by the Executive Committee at this meeting is summarized here.

Conferences: That planning and arrangements for the Department's one-day meeting during the NEA summer conference in Portland be handled by the Executive Secretary and President-elect.

That the Department plan a special seminar on professional association work for the 1956 summer conference at Stanford University. The Department will pay the conference tuition fee for an officer or the state representative to represent each state association of elementary school principals at this special conference seminar.

That the 1957 Annual Meeting be planned in accordance with the policy statement on conference planning adopted by the Executive Committee in 1953. (This statement may be found on p. 13.)

That the 1959 Annual Meeting be held in either San Francisco or Los Angeles, California.

Headquarters staff: That the Department adopt the NEA salary schedule and classification system for headquarters employees as suggested by the Executive Secretary and the NEA Director of of Personnel.

That the Department follow NEA policy insofar as the budget permits in regard to salaries, grade classifications, group insurance, and retirement benefits.

That the Executive Secretary, the President, and the NEA Director of Personnel determine the action to be taken in making adjustments in the salary and classification of Department clerical help beyond the annual increments provided by the salary schedule.

That the Employees Group Insurance Plan adopted by the NEA be extended to cover Department staff members.

That Dorothy Neubauer, Editor of THE NATIONAL ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL, be made Assistant Executive Secretary and Editor.

That the Executive Secretary study the need for an additional professional member of the headquarters staff and report to the Executive Committee on the results of his study at a subsequent meeting.

Publications: That the compilation into a separate publication of theme articles from the 1955-56 issues of THE NATIONAL ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL be determined at the discretion of the Editor and the Editorial Advisory Board.

That the Department investigate the desirability and, pending a favorable decision, prepare a bulletin on teaching current affairs for the use of elementary school teachers and principals. This bulletin, if undertaken, will be published as a joint project with the National Council for the Social Studies, a department of the National Education Association.

State representatives: That the Department sponsor a meeting at the headquarters office each fall, beginning in 1957, for those state representatives who are beginning their terms of office that year.

Budget: That the revised 1955-56 budget be accepted, pending later revisions as needed. (A financial statement and an analysis of operating expenditures for 1955-56 appear on p. 39-41.)

Past presidents: That each year the immediate past president of the Department be invited to attend the first annual meeting following his term of office as president and that the Department pay his room and meal expenses during the period of the conference.

Planning Committee: That the original appointment of the Planning Committee be extended for an additional year, ending May 31, 1957.

The Committee discussed a number of topics in addition to those covered by formal action and also received several reports on Department activities. A summary of this phase of the Committee's meeting follows.

Annual meeting plans: The Executive Secretary discussed plans for the 1956 Annual Meeting and mentioned the usefulness of suggestions which were made by participants at the preceding conference. The Committee then discussed program plans for the 1957 Annual Meeting. It was suggested that the program stress technics of instruction with special emphasis on such areas as science, art, reading, music, and so forth. The possibility of providing demonstrations and special clinic sessions on instructional methods was also given consideration.

Publications: The Editor reported on the publications program for 1955-56. The Committee discussed the role of THE NATIONAL ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL in presenting research information on the elementary school principalship. It was suggested that there is little real "research" material of national significance in this area, but that the magazine might continue the practice of describing or citing studies of particular interest. The Committee also suggested topics for yearbooks and discussed procedures for yearbook preparation.

Cooperation for competence: George Hayward, Chairman of the Committee on Preparation for the Principalship and a member of the Executive Committee, reviewed the activities undertaken thus far by the Department to improve the pre-service and in-service training of elementary school principals.

Planning Committee: Arthur Hamalainen, Chairman of the Planning Committee, discussed the work of that Committee. Various phases of the Department's program and organization which have been reviewed by the Planning Committee were considered in detail. (A description of the Planning Committee's activities appear on p. 36.)

President's activities: The President reported on activities connected with his office, including meetings which he has attended as the representative of the Department.

Relationships with local and state groups: The progress made in the past few years in building close relationships with local and state organizations of elementary school principals was reviewed by the Executive Secretary. He emphasized the difficulty of keeping up-to-date information available on these groups. The Executive Committee agreed that well-planned field services are vital in strengthening relationships with local and state associations. The problems involved in providing these services were discussed and a committee designated to develop criteria to guide Department action in this area.

Participation in national meetings: The Committee agreed that, to the extent practical, the Department should accept invitations from various organizations to attend significant national conferences of importance to the elementary school program. It was agreed that the question of participation in such meetings should be decided by the Executive Secretary within the framework of a basic policy statement to be prepared and approved by the Executive Committee.

Resolutions: The importance of all members having an opportunity to present resolutions for adoption at the annual business meeting was emphasized. It was suggested that all Department members be informed that they are welcome to submit resolutions to the Resolutions Committee. The Committee also agreed that the procedure for presenting and adopting resolutions should be studied.

Future summer conferences: The Committee considered invitations from Pennsylvania State University and the University of Denver to hold summer conferences on their campuses. It was agreed that facilities at these institutions should be investigated and a decision made at a later meeting.

Membership dues: The possibility of increasing Department dues was discussed by the Committee. It was pointed out that several units of the NEA have dues of $8 to $10 a year. The Committee agreed that this matter should be given further consideration in the light of increased services which could be made available.

Name of the Department: Occasionally, suggestions are made that the Department should change its name. The Executive Secretary pointed out that the present name, the Department of Elementary School Principals of the National Education Association, has been retained in order to reflect the Department's close ties with the NEA. It was agreed that this would be an appropriate topic for consideration by the Planning Committee.

The second meeting of the Executive Committee during 1955-56 was held in Denver, Colorado, at the time of the Annual Meeting, March 7-10, 1956. All members of the Committee were present, as were several members of the headquarters staff. Major action taken by the Executive Committee during this meeting is summarized here.

Conferences: That San Francisco be the 1959 convention site, pending the securing of a suitable date and a favorable contract for convention facilities. It was agreed that further consideration would be given to Los Angeles for the Annual Meeting if arrangements were not satisfactory in San Francisco. (Note: Developments later in the spring of 1956 led to the selection of Los Angeles as the site of the 1959 conference.)

That the Department not sponsor a summer conference in 1957.

Committees: That the following persons be invited to serve as members of the Nominating Committee for the 1956-57 election of officers: Mildred Barrows, New Britain, Connecticut; Caleb W. Bucher, Lancaster, Pennsylvania; Mary Hoyt, Napa, California; Harvey Mullinax, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; and Ethel Simmons, Trion, Georgia. (Note: Since Miss Barrows could not accept, it was later agreed to ask Anne Christensen, Lincoln, Nebraska, to serve on the Nominating Committee.)

That it become a policy of the Executive Committee that individual Executive Committee members pay their own meal expenses during the regular period of the Annual Meeting when the Committee is not in session. This does not apply to the President who has direct official duties thru the entire convention.

That the Executive Secretary prepare a list of outstanding elementary school principals in various states who have been active in professional association activities. This list will be for the use of the Executive Committee in selecting persons to assume responsibilities for the Department.

State representatives: That the following appointments of representatives to the national Department by state elementary school principals' associations be approved: Martin Tate, Phoenix, Arizona; Harold D. Miller, Jr., Springfield, Vermont; Audrey Snodgrass, Falls Church, Virginia; and H. Thoburn Ralph, Wauwatosa, Wisconsin.

Special publication: That the Department edit and publish The Flexible School, a bulletin prepared by a committee of the New York State Association of Elementary School Principals.

Budget: That the 1956-57 budget be approved, subject to revision at the fall meeting of the Executive Committee.

Headquarters staff: That one or more part-time professional consultants be employed to work with the headquarters staff on Department activities.

The Executive Committee also considered other topics of importance at this meeting without taking formal action on them. These major points of discussion are summarized below.

Future annual meetings: The Committee discussed invitations to hold annual meetings in the following cities: Atlantic City, New Jersey; Milwaukee, Wisconsin; San Francisco, California; and Spokane, Washington.

Advertising: The Editor explained the present policy to limit advertising in THE NATIONAL ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL to eight pages and covers. The Committee agreed that this policy should be continued with the possibility of an exception for the preconvention issue if felt desirable.

Elections

Basic policies governing the election of members of the Executive Committee are set forth in the Department's Constitution. Under its provisions, a Nominating Committee is appointed each year by the Executive Committee to select candidates for office. Individual Department members then vote on these candidates thru a mail balloting procedure, and their votes are counted by a three-man Board of Tellers. Details of the 1955-56 election of officers are outlined below.

Nominating Committee

The five-member Nominating Committee for the 1955-56 election met in Washington, D. C., September 22-23. Meeting independently of the headquarters staff, the Committee had available for its use the following materials:

1. A list of persons currently serving on committees of the Department.
2. A list of positions on the Executive Committee to be filled at the forthcoming election.
3. Maps indicating the geographic distribution of the current Executive Committee and areas depending on the next election for representation.
4. Statistics on membership in the Department by states and by geographic areas.
5. A list of states which have never been represented on the Executive Committee.

In making their selection of candidates, the members of the Nominating Committee considered such factors as these: 1) the composition of the Executive Committee—geographic distribution, balance of men and women, and representation for areas of high DESP membership; and 2) the personal qualifications of candidates —professional preparation and experience, activities in professional associations, and standing in local and state organizations. The recommendations received by the Committee from elementary school principals' associations and from individual members of the Department were given careful consideration in the choice of nominees for the ballot.

The following slate of candidates was selected by the Committee for the 1955-56 election:

For President-elect:

Robert N. Chenault, Nashville, Tennessee
John H. Smith, Cincinnati, Ohio

For Vice-president:

Alice L. Jeffords, Portsmouth, New Hampshire
Bernice Smith, Garden City, Kansas

For Members-at-large: (two to be elected)

Ralph S. Eudaily, Missoula, Montana
Velma Lucille Moore, Panama City, Florida
Ethel Nash, Fredericksburg, Virginia
Basil E. Rohrer, Evansville, Indiana

Balloting

In accordance with the Constitution, the election was carried out by mail ballot. Ballots were mailed in early January 1956 to all persons who were active Department members at that time. To be eligible for tallying, ballots had to be returned postmarked not later than 31 days after the date of mailing from Department headquarters. Of the 12,100 ballots mailed, approximately 5,800, or 48 percent, were returned.

Board of Tellers

To tally the ballots, the President appoints each year a Board of Tellers. This Board is responsible for opening and counting the ballots and certifying the election results to the Executive Committee and to the membership at the next annual business meeting.

The Board met on February 17 to count the ballots returned in the 1956 election. The following persons were found to be elected to the Executive Committee:

For President-elect: (to serve one year and then become President)

Robert N. Chenault, Warner School, Nashville, Tennessee

For Vice-president: (to serve one year)

Bernice Smith, Hutchinson School, Garden City, Kansas

For Members-at-large: (each to serve three years)

Ralph Eudaily, Whittier School, Missoula, Montana
Basil Rohrer, Columbia School, Evansville, Indiana

A Look Ahead

This report highlights the major activities of the past year. It indicates growth—in membership, in publications, in the breadth of professional participation—in many ways. These are important achievements, for they reflect the spirit of a dynamic and forward-looking organization.

But what of the future? How can the Department continue to grow? How can it best serve the nation's 40,000 or more elementary school principals? What should be its role in bringing about increased professionalization of the principalship? How can membership be built to embrace an even higher proportion of elementary school principals?

Certainly, there are no pat answers to these questions. But the Executive Committee, the headquarters staff, and the Planning Committee, established in 1954 to study and recommend improvements in the Department's program, are continually seeking to develop the basic outlines of the Department's future. These are some of the many possible directions of growth for the years ahead.

Membership: The gains of the past five years in Department membership have been tremendous. The figures on p. 43 demonstrate this in concrete terms. As substantial as these increases have been, there is room for even greater growth. This growth might be stimulated in a number of ways: 1) by establishing better communication with elementary school principals at the local level; 2) by trying to broaden the Department's services to be more valuable to many groups of principals—to the assistant principal, to the teaching principal, to the principal of the consolidated K-12 school; and 3) as specifically suggested by the Planning Committee, by interesting prospective elementary school principals in their professional associations —national, state, and local. This latter process might be implemented by encouraging professors of elementary education to emphasize the importance of professional organizations and to utilize Department publications in their classes.

Certification: The professionalization of the staff of the elementary school is an area of strategic importance. The Planning Committee has suggested that the national Department might consider suggesting minimum certification requirements such as the following: 1) that every elementary school teacher hold the B.A. degree with specialized work in the field of elementary education; 2) that every elementary school principal have at least one year post-graduate work with specialized study in the field of elementary school administration; 3) that the future look toward two years of graduate work for every elementary school principal.

Preparation: Another important area of concern in the professionalization of the principalship is the quality of preparatory work received by principals. The current project of cooperation with colleges and universities to improve the preparatory programs for principals, described on p. 23, is a significant step in this direction. Altho the specific outlines of this program's future cannot be determined now, its significance to the profession and to the Department should be borne in mind.

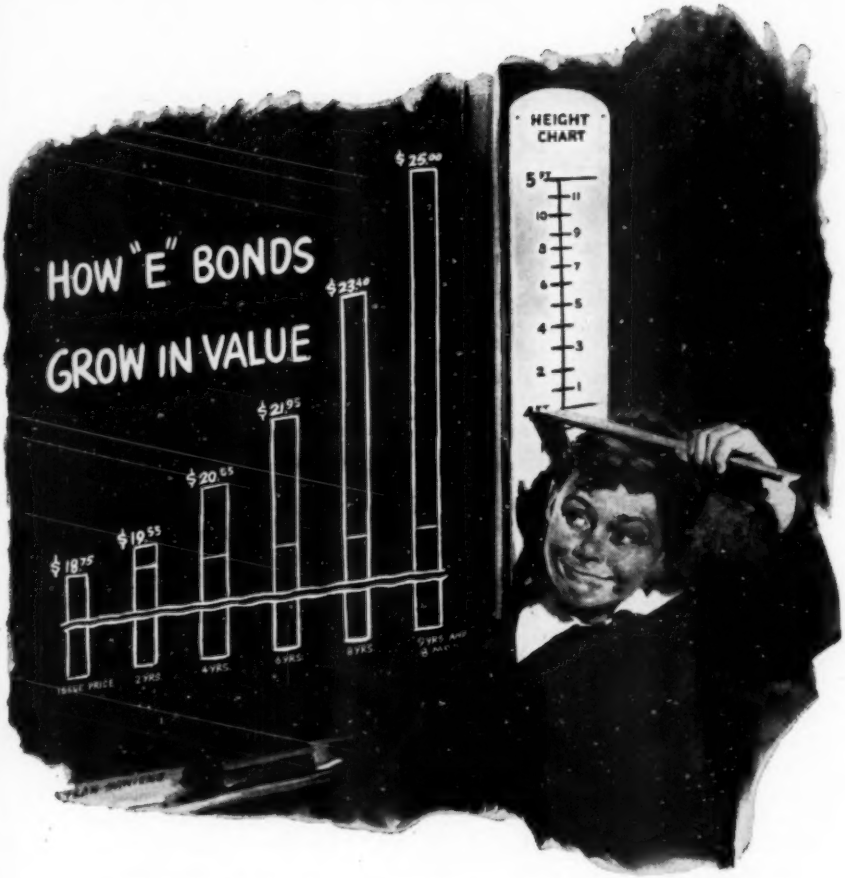
Leadership development: The Department has an important role to play in encouraging the continued development of leadership in the field. In doing this, the Planning Committee has suggested that the Department consider: 1) additional help to individuals wishing to set up research projects in elementary education and administration; 2) tangible recognition, thru assignments to conference jobs and other positions, of principals doing outstanding work with professional associations; 3) development of improved communication about good leadership between local groups and the national office.

Advisory services: The Planning Committee and the Executive Committee have expressed their interest in the Department's continuing to cooperate with other national organizations working in areas related to the elementary school program. These activities, such as are described on p. 27, enable the Department to help channel the resources of many groups toward enriching elementary education.

Publications: The Department's publications have proven very successful in providing elementary school principals with professional reading specifically designed for them. The future publication of The Flexible School, see p. 32, of a yearbook on the elementary school principalship, see p. 25, and possibly of a bulletin on the teaching of contemporary affairs, see p. 29, is particularly significant, for these materials will contribute substantially to a more diversified publications program. Other areas of importance to elementary school principals which cannot be treated in the regular magazine program might be considered as possible topics for additional special publications and yearbooks.

Planning Committee

The Department's Planning Committee has an important role to play in looking ahead into the Department's future. Established in 1954 for a two-year period and reappointed for an additional year in 1955, see p. 29, it is the Planning Committee's particular responsibility to study the Department's program and to make recommendations on its improvement and development to the Executive Committee. At their meeting during the 1956 Annual Meeting, the Planning Committee discussed many of the ideas highlighted above. These and other suggestions for strengthening the Department and its program will help to determine the patterns of future growth.



Remember scenes like this—seeing how fast Johnny was growing up? And how he did grow!

U.S. Savings Bonds grow too; $3 put into Savings Bonds today will bring you $4 when the Bonds mature; $75 will bring you $100, and so on.

Johnny can watch the Bonds grow along with him—when he turns his dimes and quarters into Savings Stamps, for U.S. Savings Bonds, at school. His parents and teachers are giving Johnny the thrift lesson every young citizen should have. School Savings is an excellent means to this end. And Johnny will have a sense of taking part in the affairs of his government. He'll be proud to "BUY A SHARE IN AMERICA" through Savings Stamps and Bonds. That's practicing good citizenship. And it's being patriotic, too.

Membership Activities

During the past several years, Department membership has moved steadily upward. This growth is evidence of the increasing usefulness of Department services—publications, conferences, and field activities. It is also evidence of the consistent efforts of the Department's state representatives to acquaint elementary school principals with the national organization and to encourage DESP membership.

A state representative is elected or appointed by each state association of elementary school principals to serve as a liaison person between the state and the national Department. These people work closely with the headquarters office in soliciting DESP memberships and facilitating the exchange of information between the national organization and elementary school principals within the state. The Department provides representatives with supplies for their work and, beginning in the fall of 1957, will hold orientation meetings for new appointees at the headquarters office. (See Executive Committee action, p. 29.)

At what age should a girl be told about menstruation?

Better a year early than a day late—that is the opinion of an ever increasing number of parents, teachers and administrators.

To help do the job that's needed

—we supply two teaching aids: a motion picture and a booklet. Both are being used in schools all over the country to instruct younger girls. The animated film in sound and color is called "The Story of Menstruation." In just 10 fascinating minutes, this 16 mm. movie by Walt Disney Productions tells factually how and why the menstrual process starts. Gives authentic pointers on the care a girl should take of herself the year round. Stressing the importance of baths, good grooming, sensible diet, exercises.

"The Story" is told clearly, with dignity and charm. It has benefited over 20 million school girls—and has won the praise of mothers, teachers, medical and church groups. Before showing the film you may want to invite parents' cooperation. Many teachers arrange previews for mothers and daughters, or for P.T.A. members.

The booklet "You're a Young Lady Now" also helps prepare the pre-teen for menstruation, giving her a sound, wholesome explanation in simple terms directed to girls 9 to 12. Illustrated, easy-reading, this booklet has answered millions of young girls' "growing-up" questions. It may be ordered in quantity so that each girl has her own copy.

This entire program or any part of it is available to you without charge from Kimberly-Clark Corporation, the makers of Kotex sanitary napkins.

"Very Personally Yours"—specially prepared for girls 12 and older.

Teaching Guide and Menstrual Chart—adaptable to any teaching situation.

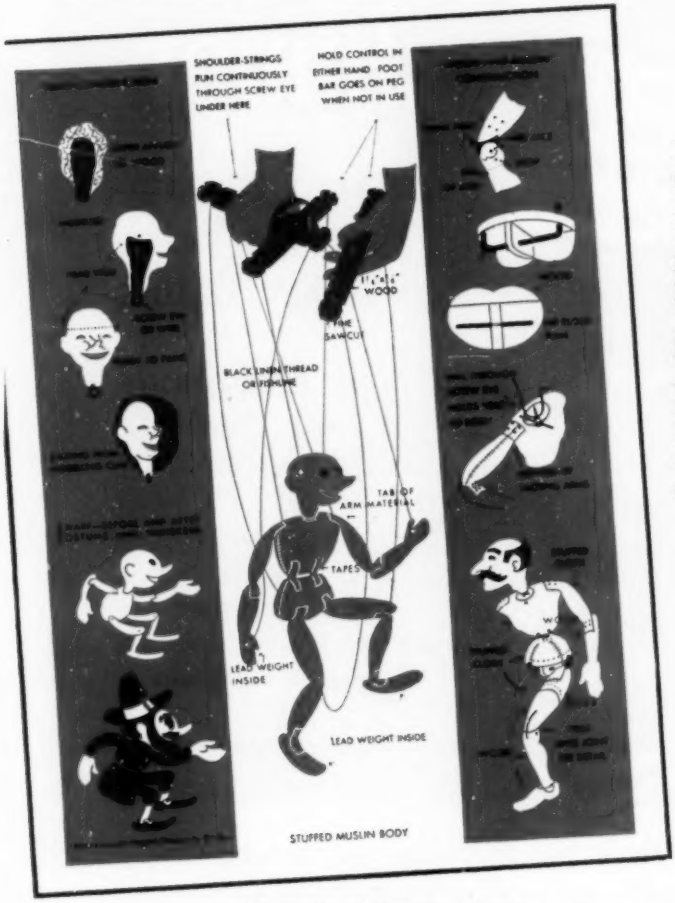
HOW TO USE THIS BOOKLET IN THE CLASSROOM

There is a place for the use of the BRITANNICA JUNIOR in every elementary classroom many times each day. This Booklet gives suggested articles, specific suggestions of content and practical ideas for stimulating the child in his use of these books. These activities are gleaned from actual observation of their use in classrooms throughout the country.

To make the best use of the suggestions in this booklet, select the subject headings then refer to the Ready Reference Volume which will lead you to subdivisions or articles related to these topics.

HANDICRAFT By using his own hands, the child develops a genuine appreciation of the work of artists. In addition, many children derive a real pleasure in creating with their own hands. Britannica Junior gives many suggestions to develop these objectives. In addition to the following, many other handicraft activities are described in the main article:



Kite
Carpentry
Mask
Diorama
Bird House
Model Airplane
Marionettes
Boomerang
Aquarium
Heraldry
Embroidery
Sewing
Cooking

Example of Simple Directions Given in Children's Language on a Subject in this Classification:

Marionettes:

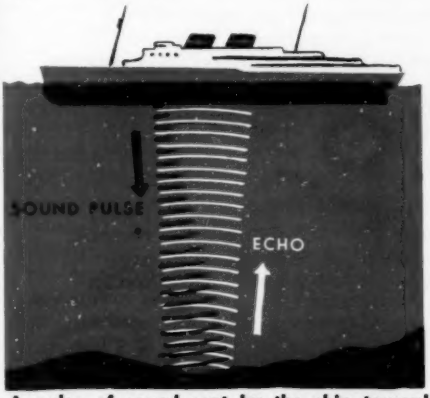
Marionettes are used as a means of expression. They are a way to tell a story or express an idea. For instance, if a marionette actor needs a very long nose or big hands or very short legs or even wings, he can have them without any trouble at all. He can be built that way. Genies and fauns and dwarfs are all possible.

HOW BRITANNICA JUNIOR INTRODUCES THE SUBJECT OF SCIENCE

"There are many kinds of science. A study of the moon and the stars and other heavenly bodies is called Astronomy. A study of plants and animals is called biology. A study of the history of the earth and the plants and animals that have lived on it in the past called geology. These are only a few of the kinds of science."

Suggested Activities

A science class in an elementary school used this novel device for illustrating their complete study of the constellations. The children painted the positions of the stars in the constellations on the concave surface of an umbrella to depict the way they appear in the sky.



A pulse of sound sent by the ship toward the bottom of the Ocean is partly reflected to a receiver. The time required for the sound to go down and back is measured. The depth can be found from this and the known speed of sound in water.

Another group who had completed their study of the planets used an old umbrella stripped of its cover, for the framework on which to hang miniature planets made from papier mache. The model planets were hung in their natural order with the handle of the umbrella representing the sun. Information for carrying out both of these projects came from the articles on the Solar System and Constellation.

In order to illustrate how a propeller on an airplane helps the plane to move, put an electric fan on a roller skate or similar light-weight object with wheels. The blade of the fan will serve as a propeller and cause the object on which it rests to move.

A science teacher encouraged the children to learn more about pulleys. At the end of their study, a display of various types of pulleys was placed in the hall for other children to observe. An example of the type of demonstration used was a miniature clothesline with doll clothes hanging from it. All examples were made to small scale.

This simple experiment is very effective in proving that white light is made up of the three basic colors. Paint the blades of an electric fan with the primary colors. Make one blade red, one blue, and one yellow. The fan does not revolve fast enough to make a pure white, but it does show why we say white light is made up of the primary colors.

If an ordinary glass jar is struck sharply so that a sound is heard, the vibration of the glass can often be felt by placing the fingers lightly along its edges. When there are small pieces of cork at the bottom of it they will be seen to dance about . . . If there is a liquid in it the surface will be ruffled by the vibrations. We may say then that vibration is necessary in order to produce sound.

CHILDREN'S

ROBINSON CRUSOE

BRITANNICA JUNIOR can help the child learn to know the world through literature. Below are listed some of the articles which will acquaint the child with stories from other countries and cultures.

American Literature
Canadian Literature
French Literature
German Literature
Greek Literature
Hebrew Literature
Irish Literature
Italian Literature
Latin Literature and Language
Russian Literature
Scandinavian Literature
Spanish Literature

BAMBI

The child will continually meet new types of literature. The following articles may be used to increase his understanding and appreciation.

Allegory
ballad
drama
epic essay
fable folklore
limerick novel poetry rhetoric
saga
sonnet

Authors become living human beings if the children become familiar with incidents from the authors' lives. A good example of this is the allusion to Miska and Maud Petersham, taken from Britannica Junior: "Often they draw on the same picture for Miska is right-handed and Maud is left-handed."

YOUNG FU

Suggested Activities

The class or various commitees within a class may wish to make dioramas from scenes in a favorite book. The article on Diorama in Volume 5 will help them in this project.

Scenes from stories may be dramatized either as a classroom activity or for the school as an auditorium program. Sometimes this leads to radio or television programs for the benefit of the community.

Nature Study

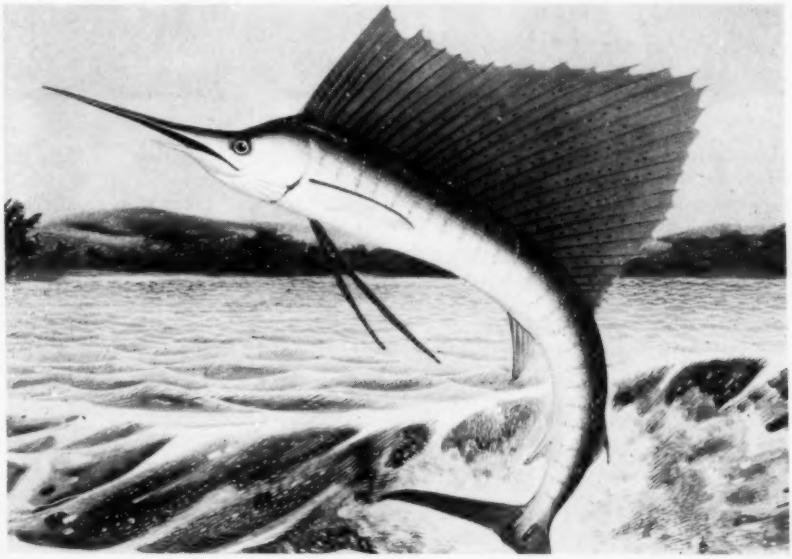
The subject of Nature Study is indexed under general headings, such as Marine Life, Fish, Birds, Plants, Animals, as well as under specific headings.

AQUARIUM

"The best plants for a fresh-water aquarium are arrowhead, tape grass, fanworth, ditch moss, water milfoil and stonewort. For the salt-water aquarium, sea lettuce is used, and the best fishes are minnows, sticklebacks, American soles, or tiny eels. If rocks are used to hold the plants in place, they should not be so rough as to hurt fish that touch them when swimming past. By the use of two long sticks it is possible to plant and replant the aquarium garden without placing one's hands in the water."

SUGGESTED ACTIVITY

A librarian in an Eastern elementary school used this plan to stimulate interest in research. She covered three tables with nature objects to be identified. These included such articles as shells, seeds, leaves, wasp nests and similar material. The fourth, fifth and sixth grades were challenged to see which group could do the best work in naming each numbered object. Each child was given a paper containing numbers corresponding with the object on display. Three days were allowed for filling in the blanks. At the end of the contest the scores for each child were compiled, and divided by the number of the class enrollment. This determined the score for the grade. An interesting result from this contest was that the children requested another in which they brought in their own objects to be identified. A marked improvement in research habit was noted in the second contest.



Geography

"Things are not equally distributed throughout the world. Areas differ one from the other. We must understand these differences before we can begin to work together in a peaceful world."

To go into all the phases of geography that are discussed in Britannica Junior would fill this booklet many times over. Below you will find a few suggestions of the articles to be found:

maps and map-making Latitude and longitude Climate Mountains
Ptolemy Earth Humboldt Waterfall

SUGGESTED ACTIVITIES

(Underlined words indicate articles to be referred to for further instruction. Use the Ready Reference Index)

Children enjoy filling a bulletin board with labels from food brought in from other countries (i.e. beef from Argentina, or Edam Cheese from the Netherlands). These labels may be used to arouse a curiosity about the source of food, means of transportation, methods of preparations, and correlated questions.

One class found the product maps and their supplementary material valuable in working out a culminating activity in their study of the United States. The group constructed from shoe boxes, forty-eight floats depicting the various states of the United States. The theme of each float was obtained from the product map accompanying the state article. The result was not only a dramatic parade of floats, but a most effective review of the industries of various sections of our country.

Children in a fifth grade constructed a working model of an oil well by studying the diagrammatic drawings accompanying the article on petroleum and the pump. The oil was buried in a glass jar in a box of sand, shale and limestone. One side of the box was a pane of glass through which the children could watch the oil from the glass jar being pumped to the surface of the box.

HISTORY

"It is hard to imagine civilized people living in an age with no histories. Yet such an age lasted for more than half the time after people knew civilization." Of course, Britannica Junior has numerous articles on History. Here you find only a few listed to give a hint of the vast amount of material found in these books.

1. Flags (including 16 color plates)
2. Chronological tables (20 pages including dates from 550 BC to the present)
3. Important battles (4 pages giving place, dates, contestants and results)
4. Inventions (A list of inventions from 1450 to the present including date, inventor and his nationality)

Suggested Activities

Children enjoy writing imaginary diaries of their day by day activities at some historical place. This encourages research and eliminates verbatim copying.

At another time the children may write imaginary conversations between men living in different periods of history. For example, one child may act the part of Columbus and another that of Admiral Byrd. If the child is interested in science, he may want to act as Louis Pasteur talking to Dr. Salk. The girls might like to carry on a conversation between Elizabeth I and Elizabeth II of England.

One game frequently played in elementary classrooms and always getting good reception is that of "Who Am I". One child has the name of a historical character printed on a piece of paper and pinned onto his back. He is not told whose name is printed there, but must learn by asking questions about "himself" until he has enough information to name the character.

Music

The Greek myths tell of Pan the god of woods and fields, of flock and shepherds, the inventor of the shepherd's pipe. Pan sighed through the reeds on a river bank and heard his breath produce a mournful wail as it passed through them. He broke them off in unequal lengths, bound them together, and he had a musical instrument. (From the article MUSIC)

Some of the related articles are listed below:

Musical Instruments	Wagner, Wilhelm Richard
Arabian	Cecilia, Saint
Harp	Orchestra
Drum	Sound
Organ	Vienna
Sounding Boards	Muses
Violin Family	Opera
Musical Comedy

Suggested Activity

For instruction on how to construct an assortment of musical instruments it is suggested that the teacher go to the Study Guide "Music and Art". Here also are given suggestions on how to teach the child how to create original rhythms and tunes. The child will be intrigued with the possibility of composing class songs and school songs.

ARITHMETIC

Arithmetic is obviously a part of everyday living. The BRITANNICA JUNIOR can give colorful, dramatic, though factual information about mathematics which would have no place in a textbook. It can at the same time make numbers an easy natural part of our day by day life.

There is a quantity of such material in other articles in BRITANNICA JUNIOR. One may utilize such stories as those of:

Fractions	accounts
equations	astronomy
Addition	interest
algebra	mathematics
square root	graphs, and many others.

By using the Ready Reference Index each of these topics will give references to other related material. For example, the entry mathematics has sixteen sub-topics.

(Kite — Vol. 9, P.30, 3rd pix)

SUGGESTED ACTIVITIES

Children enjoy comparing the size of their city or state with the population of some other locality.

By utilizing the suggestions in such articles as Handicraft, Kites, Model Airplanes, the section on Bird-houses in the article on Birds, and Dioramas the use of numbers can be put to very practical usage. Example:

"The materials needed for a box kite are 2 bands of strong cloth, each 74 inches long and 12 inches wide, and 8 smooth straight sticks of pine, spruce or basswood. Of the sticks 4 should be 42 inches long and 3/8 inch square, and 4 should be 26 inches long, 1/2 inch wide, and 1/4 inch thick. These shorter sticks, which are to be used as braces, should be notched at each end and then bound to keep the wood from splitting."

RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES

Every volume of Britannica Junior holds suggestions for utilizing leisure time to best advantage. Just a few of the many articles found are listed below:

baseball	drawing	model airplanes
Basketball	handicraft	marionettes
badminton	camping	carpentry
football	stamps and stamp-collecting	chemistry
bicycles	music	games
swimming		tennis
drawing		musical instruments
riddles

DIVING—FIRST STEP

STRAIGHT FRONT DIVING

JACKKNIFE DIVE

Suggested Activities

Where can the teacher or child go to find the answers to questions such as these:

1) How can I learn to throw the knuckle-ball?
2) How can I learn to swim the breast stroke?
3) What must I do to get over my fear of water so I can learn to swim?
4) What new games can we play on rainy days?
5) What colors do I blend to get this shade of green?
6) What is a "boneshaker" bicycle?
7) What do I do when I become lost if I am out camping?
8) When can I get some new suggestions for making gifts?
9) What books do you recommend for fifth grade child?
10) What dimensions should be used in a basketball court for elementary children?

BRITANNICA JUNIOR will furnish the answers to these and thousands of other questions which face elementary teachers and children every day of the year. Best of all, the answer is given so the child who finds the answer can read and understand it himself.

THE NEW EDITION OF BRITANNICA JUNIOR—HOW IT GIVES TEACHER AND PUPILS NEW IDEAS ON SUBJECTS TAUGHT IN ELEMENTARY GRADES.

BRITANNICA JUNIOR has been designed to supplement the teaching of subjects in the elementary school curriculum. It is a children's encyclopaedia which may be used advantageously to enrich the teaching of subjects taught in elementary grades and junior high schools.

The content of BRITANNICA JUNIOR has been selected carefully and the vocabulary is being checked constantly. The sentences deliberately are kept short to provide ease of reading, and the volumes are printed in large, legible type. The purpose of this encyclopaedia is not only to provide the material for, but also to encourage, independent research beyond the scope of classroom textbooks by the child himself.

Since BRITANNICA JUNIOR has been planned to supplement the material found in textbooks, it can bring to the teacher and to the pupil new ideas on subjects taught in the elementary grades. The purpose of the following material is to suggest to the teacher the best possible way to facilitate the use of the wealth of wonderful material.

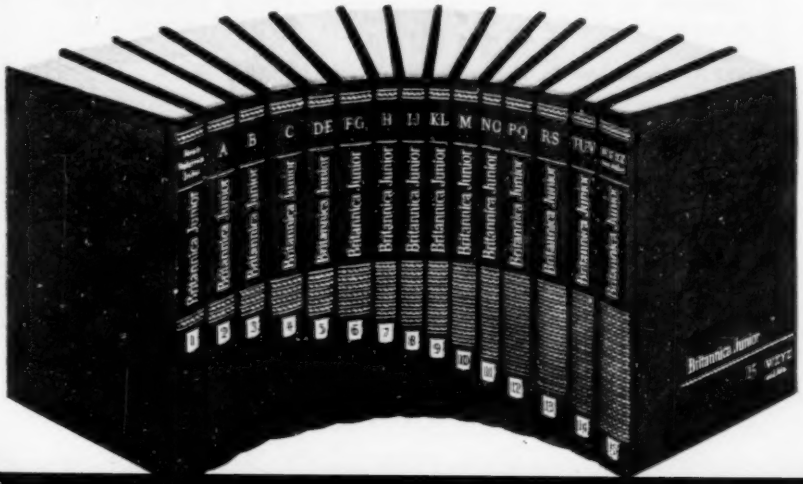
READY REFERENCE VOLUME

The Ready Reference Volume (Volume 1) is the key to all the information found in the set. Each entry in this volume contains the pronunciation, definition, and significant information about the topic. Directions for locating the main article, subtopics, maps, graphs, charts and pictures may be found in the booklet "How to Use Ready Reference Index of BRITANNICA JUNIOR", and in a section at the beginning of Volume 1. Frequently, all the information desired by an elementary school child on a specific topic will be given in the Ready Reference Index.

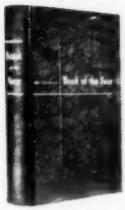
JOHN R. ROWE
Educational Director

The teacher may wish to give this instruction in one or more class periods, or she may wish to teach them as the need arises in classroom situations. Of course follow-up instruction is essential.

The Ready Reference Volume enables the child to find quickly the specific items about which he wishes information. It opens up for him the amazing quantity of material available on topics in which he is interested.



STUDY GUIDES



The Brittanica Junior Study Guides were written with the purpose of giving the teacher suggestions for stimulating further interest on the part of the children. Such material as bibliographies for teachers and children, approaches and evaluations of units, handicrafts, additional maps and pictures are supplied as guides to the teacher. Many include bibliographies of films and film strips, lists of records and suggested creative activities.

BRITANNICA BOOK OF THE YEAR

The Britannica Book of the Year, an annual publication, has been planned to give recent material to the users of this encyclopaedia. Information concerning events of the preceding year are covered in the Britannica Book of the Year. Its greatest value for the elementary grades lies in its statistics, current biographies, obituaries, and latest development of constantly changing topics (i.e. world affairs, science, medicine, politics, sports etc.) Each volume is indexed at the back for easy location of information within this volume, and in the previous four volumes. Teachers welcome the authentic and complete background of facts they may procure on current topics.

VISUAL AIDS

Charts, graphs, diagrammatic drawings, and maps all add to the ease with which Britannica Junior may be used. Three types of maps are placed with the article on all states and many major countries. In the back of Volume 15 are one hundred and fourty-four maps. The Atlas Index includes 56,000 entries. These maps are placed in natural sequence of development. Global maps show air-line distance. Physical and political maps of the continents are placed on facing pages. Diagrammatic drawings are clear and easy to understand.

WHAT THEY NEED...
WHAT THEY WANT...

Teachers and librarians generally agree that when young people are granted freedom of selection in what they read they choose the best. Be it literature for the fun of reading or the search for information, they select books that are attractively designed and at the same time intelligently edited to satisfy young minds.

More and more teachers and librarians say that The Children's Hour is the first choice of children who are just awakening to the world of great literature and the pure joys of reading...that Our Wonderful World arouses young minds as never before to seek new adventures in learning...and that The American Peoples Encyclopedia is preferred as a source of complete, up-to-date information.

Spencer Press invites you to examine these three outstanding works . . . a must in every school and library.

Our Wonderful World

A new kind of young peoples' reference, Herbert S. Zim, Editor-In-Chief . . . "Themagraphic" organization . . . consistent with today's general educational programs. "There is nothing else in the world like Our Wonderful World!" 18 volumes.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLES ENCYCLOPEDIA

Written for young peoples' understanding, yet comprehensive. 3200 outstanding contributors, including 15 Nobel prize winners. 20 volumes.

THE Children's Hour

A collection of stories and poems for young people by great writers of children's literature, illustrated by outstanding artists . . . Marjorie Barrows, Editor-In-Chief. 16 volumes.
